NEW COURSE

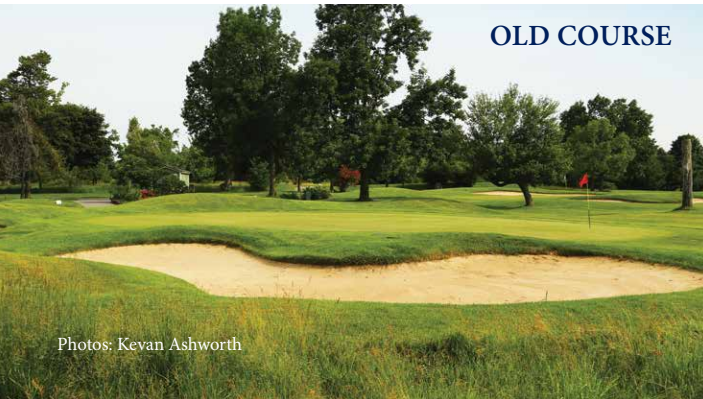

OLD COURSE VS. NEW COURSE

The Old Course and the New Course have played host to numerous local and regional PGA of Canada events as well as a qualifying venue for the Canadian Open.

If you prefer large and undulating greens, more generous fairways and plenty of water then the New Course is for you. Measuring 6,734 yards, water comes into play on four holes, but it's the well bunkered contoured greens that provide the real difference.

If you appreciate a more traditional parkland-style golf experience, then play the Old Course. The greens are less undulated than the New Course and water is non-existent. The par-71 Old Course measures 6,712 yards and is a true test for any player.
